DETAILED ACTION

Priority

1. Receipt is acknowledged of papers submitted under 35 U.S.C. 119(a)-(d), which papers have been placed of record in the file.

Specification

2. Applicant is reminded of the proper language and format for an abstract of the disclosure.

The abstract should be in narrative form and generally limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet within the range of 50 to 150 words. It is important that the abstract not exceed 150 words in length since the space provided for the abstract on the computer tape used by the printer is limited. The form and legal phraseology often used in patent claims, such as "means" and "said," should be avoided. The abstract should describe the disclosure sufficiently to assist readers in deciding whether there is a need for consulting the full patent text for details.

The language should be clear and concise and should not repeat information given in the title. It should avoid using phrases which can be implied, such as, "The disclosure concerns," "The disclosure defined by this invention," "The disclosure describes," etc.

With respect to the present abstract, the abstract should be limited to a single paragraph on a separate sheet.

Claim Objections

3. It has been held the recitation that an element is "capable of" in claims 1, 3, 4, and 5 perform a function is not a positive limitation but only requires the ability to so perform. It does not constitute a limitation in any patentable sense. In re Hutchison, 69 USPQ 138.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

4. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

> A person shall be entitled to a patent unless –
> (e) the invention was described in (1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent or (2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effects for purposes of this subsection of an application filed in the United States only if the international application designated the United States and was published under Article 21(2) of such treaty in the English language.

5. Claims 1-4 and 6 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(e) as being anticipated by Shimaoka (6,473,178).

Regarding claims 1 and 4, Shimaoka discloses a cell (5) for receiving particles therein, a light source section (1-4) for irradiating one or more laser light having a plurality of wavelengths (400 nm and 700 nm), a detector (7-9, 53a-55) for measuring the intensity of a direct light passing through the cell and light scatted by the particles at respective scattering angles and an arithmetic processing unit (10-13) for determining the particle size distribution by using the laser light at the first and second wavelengths in the whole range of the particle size to be measured to compensate the sensitivity of the region (see figures 2(A), 2(B), 3 (A), and 3(B); column 6 lines 52-64, column 8, lines 31-52).

Regarding claims 2 and 6, see column 6, lines 52-64 for wavelengths at 400 nm and 700 nm.

Regarding claim 3, see figures 1 and 5 for scattered light at different angles.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

6. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

7. Claim 5 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Shimaoka.

Shimaoka does not explicitly teach the use of a shuttle for transmitting light of selected wavelength and prevent another wavelength. However, such a feature is well known in the art. Thus, it would have been obvious to one having ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to include in Shimaoka a shuttle because this is a known shuttle which is known to serve for the purpose of Shimaoka of transmitting light of a wavelength at 700 nm and prevent the another wavelengths or transmitting light of wavelength at 400 nm and prevent the other wavelengths.

Conclusion

8. The prior art made of record and not relied upon is considered pertinent to applicant's disclosure. Following references are relative to particle size measurement: Igushi et al (5,185,641; 5,796,480 and 5,164,787), Watson et al (6,177,994), Stohr (4,243,318), Ito et al (5,760,900 and 4,999,513), Takeda et al (4,957,363), Hogg et al (4,341,471), Hirleman, Jr. (5,007,737), Niwa (5,379,113 and 5,105,093).
